Nay, grieve not for the dead alone.
Whice some has told their hear's and story—
Weep for the voiceless, who have known.
The cross without the crown of glory!
Not where Leucadian breezes sweep.
O'er Sagsho's memory hamned pillow,
But where the glistening uink-dews weep.
O'er nameless sorrow's church-yard pillow.

O, hearts that break and give no sign. Save whitening lip and fading treasure.

Fill death, pours out the certain wine,
Blow-dropped from Misury's errubing presses.

If singing breath or echoing chord
To every hidden paris were given.

What endlies bucketies very pure.

A Sorry Jest-Judatag by Appearances. Once, when traveling in a stage-coach, I met a young lady who seemed to be on the constant look-out for something laughable; and, not content with laughing herself, took and, not content with laughing herself, took great pains to make others do the same.

Now, traveling in a stage-coach is rather prosy business. People in this situation are apt to show themselves peevish and selfish; so the young lady's good humor was, for a time, very agreeable to the travelers. Every old barn was made the subject of a passing joke, while the cows and hems looked demurely on little dreaming that falks could be were. on, little dreaming that folks could be merry at their expense. Animals are not sensitive in that respect. They are not likely to have their feelings injured because people make fun of them; but when we come to human their feelings injured because people make fun of them; but when we come to human beings that is quite another thing. So it seemed to me; for after nwhile an old woman came running across the fields, swinging her bag at the coadman, and in a shrill voice begging him to stop.

The good-natured coachman drew up his horses, and the good old lady coming to the fence by the roadside, squeezed herself through between two bars, which were not only in a horizontal position, but very near together. The young lady in the stage-coach made some ludicrous remark, and the passengers laughed. It seemed very excusable; for in getting through the fence the poor woman had made sad work with her old black bonnet, and now, taking a seat beside a well-dressed lady, really hooked as if she had been blown there by a whirlwind. This was a new piece of fun and the girl made the most of it. She caricatured the old lady upon a card; pretended, when she was not looking, to take natterns of her bonnet, and in various other ways tried to raise a laugh. At length the poor woman turned a pale face toward her.

"My dear, you are young, healthy and toward ber.

"My dear, you are young, healthy and tappy; I have been so, too, but that time has past; I am now decrepit and forlorn. This coach is taking me to the death-bed of my child. And then, my dear, I shall be a poor old woman, all alone in a world where merry girls think me a very amusing object. They will laugh at my old-fishioned clothes and odd appearance, forgetting that the old woman has a spirit that has loved and suffered, and will live forever."

The coach now stopped before a poor-looking house, and the old lady feebly descended "How is she?" was the first trembling in-

"How is she?" was the first trembling inquiry of the poor mother.

"Just alive," said the man who was leading her into the house.

Putting up the steps, the driver mounted his box, and we were on the road again. Our merry young friend had her card in her pocket. She was leaning her head upon her hand; and you may be assured I was not sorry to see a tear upon her fair young cheek. It was a good lesson, and one which we hoped would do her good.

Clittering Generalities of Senator Seward. Senator Seward, in a speech recently delivered at Madison, Wis., uttered himself in the following words:

It has been by a simple rule of interpretation I have studied the Constitution of my country. That rule has been simply this: That by no word, no act, no combination into which I might enter, should any one human being of all the generations to which to belong, much less any class of human beings of any nation, race or kindred, be oppressed and kept down in the least degree in their efforts to rise to a higher state of liberty and happiness. [Applause.] Amid all the glosses of the times, amid all the esgays and discussions to which the Constitu-tion of the United States has been subjected, this has been the simple plain broad light in which I have read every article and every section of that great instrument. Whenever it requires of me that this hand shall keep down the humblest of the human race, keep down the humblest of the human race, then I will lay down power, place, position, fame, every thing, rather than adopt such a construction or such a rule. [Applause]. If, therefore, in this land there are any who would rise, I sey to them, in God's name, good speed! If there are in foreign lands people who would improve their condition by emigration, or if there be any here who would a should be constructed. would go abroad in search of happiness, in the improvement of their condition, or in their elevation toward a higher state of dig-nity and happiness, they have always had, and they always shall have, a cheering word and such efforts as I can consistently make in their behalf. [Applause].

The Devil and Tom Walker-A Satanic Call Lean. Speaking of Washington Irving's works, Ben. F. Taylor, of the Chicago Journat,

"The Devil and Tom Walker" might be read to advantage in Wall-street once a week; perhaps even in Clark-street, once a year. Tom, as every body remembers, sold himself to the devil at last; though there was himself to the devil at last; though there was some little difference as to the consideration. "The black man" proposed that Tom should fit out a slave-ship. Tom hung back. "He was bad enough in all conscience; but the devil himself could not induce him to turn slave-trader." The next worst thing the devil could think of, was that Tom should then years the devil. turn usurer; the devil, according to Irving, being extremely anxious for the increase of usurers, leoking upon them as his peculiar

So a bargain was struck, and Tom opened a broker's office in Boston, and grew rich and waxed fat, and looked down upon, and was looked up to until one dark afternood, "somebody" came for him, with a coal-black borse; Tom "had left his little Bible in the bottom of his coat pocket"—he had on his India-silk morning-gown—and his big Bible on the deak was buried beauth the mortsage he was about to foreclose, and so they—"somebody" and Tom—rode away together, smid much thunder and lightning, and were never heard of more. never heard of more.

A REMINISCENCY OF THE REVOLUTION—
Anecdote of General Washington.—During the American Revolution, it is said, the commander of a little squad was giving orders to those under him, relative to a log of timber which they were endeavoring to raise up to the top of some military works they were repairing. The timber went up with difficulty, and on this account the voice of the little great man was often heard, in regular vocilerations of "Heave away! there she goes! heave he! heave!"

heave ho ! heave ! "
An officer, not in the military costume, was passing, and asked the commander why be did not take hold, and render a little aid. The latter, astonished, turned round with all the pomp of an Emperor, and said, "Sir, I am a Corporal."

"You are, are you?" replied the officer; "I was not aware of that;" and taking off his hat and bowing, the officer said, "I ask your pardon, Mr. Corporal," and then dismounted, and lifted till the sweat stood in drops on his forehead.

When the work was finished, turning to the commander, he said, "Mr. Gorporal, when you have another such job, and have not mea sufficient, send for your Commander-in-chief, and I will come and help you the pecoad time."

The Corporal was thunder-struck. It was Washington who thus addressed him.

Financial Affairs. Financial affairs were fully as quiet yes torday as they usually are on Monday, and the move-ment in Monetary matters was inactive. There was a fair demand for Corrency, though the supply was good, without any surplus of consequence at the Banking-houses.

The rates of first-class Paper were unchanged; prime Paper selling at 106512 per cent, in the regular quarters, with very few offerins in the street, where the figures rule at bestip per cent, auntally for second-class names. Several of the houses say they could and would be giad to take more Paper than they do if it were resented.

Esstern Exchance was still firm at is buying, and is premium selling rate, though dealers would not give over 30c. for Balimore Checks.

Gold was rather stiffer, but we heard of no sales of consequence, the rates being, as before, is and help the premium.

No alteration occurred in New Orleans Exchange, Time-bills of Uncurrent Money.

DR. JAMES.

D.R. JAMES, FORMERLY OF CUSID TOM House-street, New Orieans, has arrived in Unistinuati, and has established an office at 79
West Fourth-street, from room, up stairs, one door
below Pike's Opera-kows, for the cure of old chronic, mercurial, syphilitic and private infirmities, without mercury, hindrance from business, or ax posure to friends.

The unparalleled success which has attended Dr.
James's practice in New Orleans, for the last clower years, and size, in the principal cities of the United States, the many remarkable cures he has effected, which were pronounced incurable by high medical authority, and the encominum of the almost entire Southern press, should convince the most skeptical
as to Dr. J.'s abilities to treat disease.

The following are some of the diseases tormed private, of which Dr. James devotes his particular attention, viz. Syphilis, Primary, Secondary and Terfiary, Stricture, Urentral Busishons, Disease
of the Back and Loins, Rheumatism, Hydrocele, Ulcers, &c.

Also diseases possilor to females, such as Amerorhea, Dysneonorian, Metronhagia, Chlorosia, Nervouc Debility, &c., uncessfully treated. Dr. James would also call the attention especially of these who have privately and improperly injured themselves
in that secret and colitary habit which ruin the body and mind, unithing shem for either business or society.

The following are some of the effects produced: M EDICAL NOTICE

in that secret and colliary habit which runs the

If Medicine will cure every disease that the human system is heir to; but, for those above named,
(if the directions are strictly followed,) he does most positively promise it will.

The respectability and standing of the parties who have tried it, (in some saces the parties have been afflicted for twenty years,) and whose cortificates can be seen at the drux-stores where the medicine is for sale, it is presumed will be a sufficient guarantee that this medicine is all it is represented to be, and no humbur.

The demand for this medicine at the South, where it was first introduced, in February last, and where the good effects and permanent cures are known, is so great that it is almost impossible to full the orders.

THE MOST WONDER FULL DISCOVof London and Baltimore Hespitals, where he has had many years' practice in the treatment of venercal diseases, but more vecently of Mexico, where such diseases are to be found in their rankest form,
During his practice there, in connection with Dr.
Don ANTONIO DE LAUSVALLUS, one of the most eminent physicians in Mexico and Spain, thay discovered a remedy in one of the Mexicau plants, and found only in Southern Mexico, that removes, as if by magic, all the veneral laint from the system, in the primary or secondary form. Syphilis, in the worst stage, permanently cured in a very short time,
and the system thoroughly cheansed and pure, as if it had never been contaminated by that worst of all diseases, Syphilis. Scrothla, Leproy and all kinds of corruption of the blood and diseases of the akin removed permanently and quickly by this powerful agent and aider of nature. Maxican Spacific.
